
CONGRATULATIONS!!!!

Posted by Habib Ullah - 2007/02/22 09:52

Congratulations all web community, moderating team & Sir Ijaz Baloch for the Invention of Seraiki Editing software.

=====

Seraiki Dictionary

Posted by saad - 2007/02/22 14:26

Salaam to all
Can someone guide me frow where to get Seraiki Dictionary??

=====

Re:Seraiki Dictionary

Posted by bakhshoo - 2007/02/22 21:00

Depends on what kind of dictionary do you want. Seraiki-English, Seraiki-French, Seraiki-Chinese etc. (I think upto 19 languages) are easily available from good bookstores anywhere in the world. There might be a few in digital format as well and also across various dialects of Seraiki as well grammer, thesaurus and encyclopedia versions.

Its exemplary to see how seraiki's have preserved their language, culture and heritage.

Thanks
Bakhshoo

=====

Re:Seraiki Dictionary

Posted by saad - 2007/02/24 16:18

Thank u sir for ur kind information.I wnat either Seraiki-Urdu or Seraiki-English Dictionary. Sir i want to know that is this dictionary available in Pakistan.

Because it is not available at Ferozesons Lahore or Mavara Lahore.

SAAD

=====

Re:Seraiki Dictionary

Posted by geeraza - 2007/03/02 11:11

It is strange that u claimed that Seraiki dictionary is availabale in 19 languages but literally I have never seen any Dictionary of Seraiki Language ever.

If that claim is true then please tell a bookstore in Multan where one can find say 5 of these. Otherwise please dont make blunder on the site. This communicates much about the community.

And anyone who has correct knowledge about Seraiki dictionaries, please post that information from which SAAD and I both become aware.

Best Regards - G. Raza

=====