Sir

I am a hindu siraiki living in Bangalore. I am 31, a 3rd generation migrant.

I wish to know how and where you access Radio Bahawalpur and Radio Multan? Do you live in India? Is it possible for me in Bangalore?

is there any satellite service that offers these stations?

Thanks for your input.

Regards

Vikram Malhotra

Dear Seraiki Fellows

Posted by Khanbahadur - 2007/01/18 11:50

Good Afternoon,

I am reading the saraiki news daily and quite happy to see the indian saraiki fellows. its my desire that all the Seraiki fellows should provide their e mail addresses. So that a more close link could be created. I have written a little about saraiki in the following link

<http://friendstalk.com/groups/Seraiki>

I will well come all the saraiki fellows who would like to contact / chat with me. my e mail address is fayazbaluch@yahoo.com.

I expect that the others will also provide their e mail addresses.

Many Mnay Thanks

Fayaz Baloch

Fayaz,

I believe that Wasaib.com is serving that purpose. We already had difficulty consolidating countless small contributions across the internet to one representative website and we should work to strengthen that first.

Thanks

Hello sir,

I do not know the address of my grandparents in Multan. I do know that they were close to some Anarkali Bazaar.

I should find out more details. My grandparents are no more, but there is one brother of my grandmother, from whom i could get some information.

i thank you for taking trouble to locate the place. I would be indebted to you if you could send me pictures and details of the place if you find it. I shall send you more details in my next mail.

As i write to you, i feel nostalgic. I hope one day i will be able to travel to Multan.

you can also keep in touch with me via email
