thanks for appreciation but still these fonts have some problems. sf_koonj, Mundhla do not compose english in MS Word some times, they do in Excel, Publisher etc. Shift+2, the sign of number in koonj don't work properly some times. I noticed koonj has some problem in wasaib notepad. sf_Visakh is best technically. till now i noticed only one minor problem in it, that is, it give more space after digit 4 in Arabic. I will solve these issues in latter release (version 0.2). I gave more time to Visakh because in my view its best for publishing on paper. In latter release number of fonts will be increased. and dear all; Please inform me if you get any problem. things will be better with your support.

Dear Farhan and Rizwan,

Your efforts for developing Seraiki Editor and Seraiki Fonts are quite laudable. I have downloaded and checked Sf_Visakh it looks good and I will use it for Ajj Di Gaalh.

Lot of people who download wasaib editor , perhaps can not use it due to one reason or other . It will be really great if you prepare some tutorial , which lets user now how to type with wasaib.

I would also like to know how to incorporate visakh and other new seraiki fonts can be used in wasaib editor or for using these we have copy and paste the contents from wasaib into word and then format it .

Kind regards, keep your good work up .

Its very easy. If you installed the font then in Wasaib Notepad go to: Format >> Font .and select desired font (and size as well).

A'1Eÿ – AHFy -- †F ¼FH AHFy

Koonj some times "deceives" but just double clicking on Bold or italic button solves the problem.

AHFy (¼1'&ì installing font: Copy font >> go to My computer >> C >> windows >> Fonts, Past the font here.

It is also possible to directly compose Seraiki in MS Office, Note pade and Paint.
