
Seraiki HTML Keyboard

Posted by farhan - 2008/02/03 09:40

After developing and successfully publishing "Wasaib Seraiki Editor" now I am trying to design HTML web based visual Seraiki keyboard, with it you can compose in Seraiki script on web page.

You can view and try the html keyboard by clicking following link
<http://www.wasaib.com/kb.html>

I am waiting for your valuable comments and suggestions.

Thanks,

zabardast Sain,

There will be no bound of pleasure for me when I would see on internet the web page in seraiki with all its alphabets in text form rather image.

Best Regards- G. Raza

Dear brother,

You r quite right! And I have checked it. there r some alphabets in square form like X .

Download wasaib seraiki editor and there would be no squars.

square come because the font in which you are composing do not have some seraiki alphabets.
Keyboard mapping is not exact, few keys are different than our standard keyboard, farhan will solve it, sure. and this html keyboard is needed very much.
